

BECOME A RESEARCH DIRECTOR AT INRAE!

At INRAE you can become a research director in 3 years through a Junior Professor chair (M/F)

Holding a Junior Professor Chair means:

- developing and managing innovative research projects
- contributing to global-scale scientific topics
- having the benefit of significant financial and technical resources (financial support ANR + INRAE: package for doctoral and postdoctoral students...)
- teaching in partner schools and universities
- managing passionate, committed teams
- maintaining a healthy work-life balance

If you have a PhD and at least 5 years' experience as a researcher,

If you are passionate about agriculture, food, and the environment and you wish to join world-class public scientific infrastructures,

Applications on INRAE Jobs website

Find out more about the position of junior professor chair (M/F)

What type of Contract is it?

It is a 3-year contract
(probationary period)
followed by an assessment to award full tenure as a research director

A salary between 41 and 57 k€ depending on your experience and a guaranteed financial package at the start to launch your project

What Financial means?

What quality of life at INRAE?

45 days off/year, access to vocational training, teleworking possible, support for parenthood...

You may apply whatever your age or nationality

Just your PhD and your application describing your scientific background, your teaching experience, and your project relating to the junior professor chair position

What are the conditions to apply?

Any questions?

chaires@inrae.fr